Principal’s Report

We congratulate all students for their participation and positive behaviour at the athletics carnival last Friday.

Our thanks go to the parents and carers who supported students at the annual athletics carnival last Friday, and the High School students who assisted with the running of events. Your assistance, along with the terrific organisation by Miss Richards and our team of staff ensured that the day was extremely successful for everyone.

The following age champions were announced following the carnival:

Junior: Nic Manwaring  Mikaylah Sallows
11 Years: Michael Stanley  Tahlia Haworth
Senior: Christopher Harris  Airies Haworth

The champion sports house was Gilmore on 906 points.

Students aged 8 years and older that came first in field events or in the first two positions in the finals of track events will have qualified to represent our school at the Lachlan Zone Athletics Carnival. Notes will be sent home with those students that qualify. Training sessions will be held at school in the lead up to the Zone carnival.

A special assembly will be held on Friday, 17 July to make presentations to a number of students and to the winning house. Parents and carers are invited to attend.

Allergy AAA School
this means that children, parents, carers and visitors are asked TO NOT WEAR anything scented as we have children with severe allergies in our school.
Please: NO nuts (including nutella)

It’s Not Okay to Be Away or Late

Attached to this bulletin is an article that outlines the importance of regular school attendance for children beyond primary school. It is interesting that the title of the article borrows from our own slogan.

Please ensure that students are only away when too sick to be at school or there is an exceptional circumstance in the family. All absences need to be adequately explained within seven days. Without this, your child will not be eligible for the award of a wristband.

Three-Way Interviews

To assist in better understanding how your child is performing at school, parents are invited to participate in a Three-Way Interview with the teacher and child on Wednesday, 24 June.

Anaphylaxis

Anaphylaxis is a severe allergic reaction. Some of our students have been hospitalised in the past by their allergies and may be prescribed with an Epipen. All staff of our school are trained in the use of the Epipen.

A number of our children are allergic to nut products, and others are allergic to eggs or other food products. To reduce the chance that a child will suffer an anaphylactic reaction at school, we ask that students not bring peanut butter sandwiches or other foods containing nut products to school.

We also have a student that is severely allergic to fragrances, and others that suffer asthmatic reactions and migraines due to some fragrances and aerosol sprays. While we regularly remind families of the need to have our school fragrance-free, some people are not aware of the seriousness of fragrance allergies. It is important that students do not bring coloured hairspray to school for sporting events, mufti days or discos. Similarly, we ask that students and visiting adults avoid using perfumes or deodorants that are not fragrance-free.

We appreciate your support in keeping all of our students safe and well.

Keep Warm

Please remind your child to have a warm school jumper or jacket with them at all times. Often, when children are at home they are quite warm and do not think about how cold it may be on the playground.

NAIDOC Assembly

Parents and community members are invited to join students and staff as we celebrate NAIDOC Week for 2015. This year’s theme is We all Stand on Sacred Ground: Learn, Respect & Celebrate.

A special assembly will be held this Friday, 26 June from 10.30 am in the school hall.

Start of Next Term Different to the High School

Students of Condobolin Public School will return to school on Monday, 13 July. The staff development day for our school is on the Friday of the Condobolin Show, 28 August.

High School students return to school on Tuesday, 14 July.

It's not okay to be away ... nor to be late to school

When kids miss school, not only is their academic progress impeded, forcing them to catch up on missed work (which some never do), they often miss important interactions with their peers which can compound issues of social isolation and low self-esteem.

Of course, most people know this intuitively, yet school absenteeism is a huge problem in Australian schools — 10 per cent of it is parent-condoned.

It’s hard to get an accurate picture across the country but it would appear that Australian students miss an average of between 12 and 15 days per school year, with parent-condoned absenteeism the highest among 10-year-old primary school children.

That adds up to a year’s lost school time over the school-life of a child. In today’s highly competitive world this rate of absenteeism is alarming, putting our kids at an disadvantage.

That’s not okay!

It’s now commonplace for children to stay away from school for reasons which would have been unheard of just twenty years ago. These include staying away to celebrate their own or a sibling’s birthday; being absent because they stayed up too late watching TV; going shopping for clothes; an extended long weekend; and kids not wanting to take part in a sports day or special school event.

This is a huge message to kids that parents don’t care if they don’t do school work. So we need to maximise school time to get full value. That means turning up to school every day, on time.

Parents: It’s not okay! Either missing a few minutes each day may not seem like a big deal, but your child may be missing more than you realise. If he or she is continually late...

Current research shows that morning for most children is the most prodactive time of the day, with 1000 pm the peak period for productivity. When children arrive at school too late to settle as they inevitably do, valuable learning time is lost.
It's not okay to be away... nor to be late to school...

It takes strong parenting...

As a parent myself, I know how persuasive children can be when it comes to taking a day off school. It takes a strong will to resist the persistent pressure that kids can bring to bear, particularly if they play the guilt card with comments such as 'It's not fair that I have to go to school today because Aunty is coming to visit!' Nice try. But the answer should be 'No.'

As parents, we need to make a commitment that our kids make the most of their precious time at school. That means that we send them to school every day, on time and ready to make the most of the school day.

Of course, there will be times, such as illness or genuinely extenuating family circumstances, when kids should be away. But these need to be a rarity rather than the norm.

It's reassuring to know that you increase the chances of future success just by making sure they turn up to school every day. And of course, regular school attendance also helps kids prepare for the workforce, where it will be expected that they turn up each day work-ready. The real world is unforgiving of those who stay away. Th

NO EXCUSE.

AS A PARENT:

- Commit to sending kids to school every day.
- Make sure kids arrive at school and class on time.
- Inform the school when they are away, sending medical certificates and other evidence of genuine absence.
- Consider catching-up on missed work.
- Make kids who are away stay in their bedroom – that is where ill kids should be.
